THE PRESIDENT

It is with great pleasure that I am joining the numerous voices commemorating the 10th anniversary of the journal WISDOM, so brilliantly published by the Department of Philosophy and Logic named after Academician Georg BRUTIAN at Khachatur Abovian Armenian State Pedagogical University.

Contemporary philosophy and academia need, now more than ever, to be nourished by a plurality of voices. We, as scholars and intellectuals, can no longer rely on one particular tradition to enact our role of understanding the complex dynamics of today's world. Multiplying the centers of scholarly production, enhancing opportunities for academic partnership, bringing to a common intellectual fore the concerns of as diverse intellectual communities as possible, and merging our plural disciplinary approaches in a fully cross-disciplinary practice in philosophy and the humanities – such are in my view some of our current duties and, more fundamentally perhaps, some of the processes that would make philosophy and the humanities relevant for today's societies and cultures.

An editorial endeavour such as WISDOM is meritoriously in line with this spirit. It provides scholars, in Armenia and beyond, with a remarkable tool to present their works, to discuss their current researches in a wide variety of philosophical fields, and helps to bring the spirit and interests of the academic communities of Armenia into a larger global forum. This is a journal that deserves to be preserved, enhanced, and supported not only as an academic device but also as an open space for public discussions of emerging philosophical ideas.

The editors as well as all colleagues involved in the journal are warmly congratulated for ensuring durable success to WISDOM. I certainly wish the journal a long-lasting prosperity as a prominent voice of the Armenian academic community and a respectable actor in global academic exchanges.
